

Rapid Prototyper Lab featuring an Objet Alaris 30 3D printer

The goal of the Virginia Tech Lunabotics research was to prototype a drive system for future team's robots. The Objet Alaris 30 3D printer would be used to print out multiple parts of the structure that would become the prototyped drive system.

